

ABSTRACT

Using a combination of a device identifier and a reader identifier, a loyalty system is able to determine one or more loyalty applications a user is subscribed to. Additionally, by using a formulary based reward system, multiple tiers of rewards can be issued based on different categories of product or service purchased.